1. Introduction

Since its construction in 1974, the Hotel Botánico & The Oriental Spa Garden in Tenerife has stood as one of the most iconic hotels in the Canary Islands and the preferred destination for visiting personalities. This is evident in the names of some of its suites, paying homage to historical guests such as Michael Jackson, Bill Clinton, or Queen Sirikit of Thailand.

Located in the most exclusive area of Puerto de La Cruz – adjacent to the Botanical Garden and just a 5-minute drive from the volcanic black sand beaches – the hotel is surrounded by 25,000 m² of parks and gardens, offering breathtaking views of the beautiful Valley of La Orotava, Mount Teide, and the stunning Atlantic Ocean.

Its name "botánico" not only refers to its spectacular gardens but also underscores its commitment to nature, environmental responsibility, and sustainable tourism.

Recognized as the best 5-star Grand Luxury in the Canary Islands, the Hotel Botánico & The Oriental Spa Garden became the first hotel in the islands to join "The Leading Hotels of the World" in 1998. Today, it offers 241 rooms and suites with classic decor, exclusive materials, furnished terraces, large windows with natural light, and spectacular views.

Its flagship accommodation is the Gran Suite Bill Clinton, favored by the former U.S. president, featuring 580m² of space, impressive decorations with unique artworks, and antiques from various corners of the world. Located on its own wing on the fifth floor, it boasts exclusive access, 3 bedrooms, 3 bathrooms, a kitchen, dining room, a spacious and elegant living room with a workspace, a spectacular terrace, and an indoor jacuzzi.

The à la carte dining experience is a sensory journey through cuisines such as Thai, Italian, the typical offerings from various regions of Spain and the Canary Islands, and an innovative selection of low-calorie cuisine. All this is available in its 3 à la carte restaurants: Il Pappagallo, offering a varied menu of antipasti, fresh pasta, pizzas, and a great selection of meat and fresh fish. The offering is completed by The Oriental, distinguished for its Thai cuisine with Cambodian, Indonesian, Japanese, Chinese, and Vietnamese influences, La Parrilla with an innovative culinary proposal focusing on the flavors of Spanish cuisine, and Palmera Real with national and local proposals such as varied salads and a carefully selected range of sandwiches, tapas, and snacks.

The hotel's crown jewel is undoubtedly The Oriental Spa Garden, repeatedly awarded as the 'Best Hotel Spa in Europe and the Mediterranean' by Condé Nast Johansens. It offers a thermal circuit with heated pools both indoors and outdoors, Japanese sauna, Turkish bath, aromatherapy room, ice cave, and hydrotherapy pools spread across impressive 3,500m² facilities. Not to mention its extensive menu of outdoor activities, taking advantage of its average annual temperature of 22°C, including yoga, tai chi, pilates, chi kung, tennis, and even golf on its 5,000m² practice field.

Its 25,000 m² of gardens provide the ideal setting for a myriad of outdoor celebrations and events: magical cocktails, elegant receptions, gala dinners, and refreshing breaks to unwind.
